ERROL WHITE COMPANY

IAM

Under the pressure of sound and light IAM follows a group of dancers as they discover the very nature of one another through the fabric of their own personal histories. Intimate duets weave between each other probing for surfaces and space: taking the audience on a journey through a world of fractured timelines charged with clarity and power.

Errol White Company is an articulate and committed ensemble, producing work of a high quality with an emphasis on authentic movement vocabulary – using the vocabulary of the body as an abstract language to engage and connect emotionally with the audience.

CURIOUS SEED

PUSH

Following the success of Curious Seed's award-winning production found in 2009, PUSH is the company's ambitious new full length dance theatre performance. What pushes you to move, to say something, to push back? A group of extra/ordinary people inhabit this timeless space.

Their ordinary stories unfold and remind us to question what is important in life. Promising to be Curious Seed's most challenging and beautiful performance to date, director/creator Christine Devaney continues her trademark style in marrying expressive choreography with live music, poetic text and video images.

MATTHEW HAWKINS

STUDIO SHOWING

Working as a soloist, Matthew has accessed selected urban locales to explore transitional 'pop-up' events, in order to feel the energies of informal, diverse public scrutiny and seeing how this influences movement.

In addition, he will attempt to embody narratives inherent to the locations, their architectural details and spatial layout. This project builds on his intermittent experience of creating large installations in unusual urban locations throughout the world.

Matthew will use his time at Citymoves Studio to collate the movement material from the work and share his findings in the form of a performance, screenings and discussion.

Matthew wishes to engage the dance community during his time in Aberdeen, Citymoves and the city itself as an active 'co-star' of the emerging process and documentary film.

Friday 16th March 2012 - 3pm and 8:30pm
(40 minute performance, followed by artist talk)
